Subject:— Question of increasing the number of interpellations admissible at a meeting of the Legislative Council.

8) Under the Legislative Council Regulation, 1907, the powers of the Legislative Council were confined to the consideration and passing of measures introduced into the council. But - under Regulation of I of 1914, amending the Mysore Legislative Council Regulation 1907, powers were given to the members of the Legislative Council to discuss the annual Budget, and to ask questions. The power to ask questions is subject however to the conditions that no member is allowed to send u more than three questions for a meeting, that the President may disallow any question without giving any reason, and that only 12 questions will be selected for a meeting. Representations were made both in the Legislative Council as well as in the meeting of the Representative Assembly in 1915 tha the number of questions selected may be fixed at 2 or 36 or may be unlimited. ~~the number may be increased from 12 to 20.~~

9) In British India the power to ask questions was first conferred on the members of the Legislative Councils under the - - Indian Councils Act 1892, but no restriction was placed on the number of questions that might be asked. The President has the same power to disallow disallow a question as here. But as more - than 20 questions are being received from the non-official members only for the last two - meetings, the number may be fixed at 20, considering that a member can send only 3 questions, and that the non-official members who send the questions are fourteen in number, we will be practically allowing 50% of the maximum number of questions that might be asked - under the Rules.

10) The other Members of Council also recommend that the number of questions admissible may be raised from I2 to 20.
